

>> The Revenue Watch Resource Center is an interactive repository of expert knowledge, offering materials in multiple languages on the management of natural resource wealth. This new site represents a cross-section of up-to-date expertise, analysis and good practice for transparency advocates, civil society members, government officials, parliamentarians, students and journalists.

Revenue Watch and all its contributing partners invite you to visit the Resource Center.

-  RESEARCH: Browse country-specific publications, regional and global studies from academics, international financial institutions and civil society organizations
-  TRAINING: Watch lectures from leading academics and download training tools used by a variety of actors
-  OFFICIAL DOCUMENTS: Access government laws, policies, statements, EITI documents and other official publications
- BACKGROUNDERS: Read brief introductions on the fundamental issues facing citizens, leaders, policy-makers and others focused on the management of extractive industry wealth
- CONNECT: Share materials with colleagues and constituents using built-in email and social networking tools like Facebook
- CONTRIBUTE: Submit your own publications, research and training materials to the Resource Center, where they will be available to a global audience interested in extractive industries

>> Questions or suggestions? Want to see your organization represented?
 Email: resources@revenuwatch.org